Galveston High School

Galveston, Indiana

Our ever-bustling school-day world revolves around learning, entertainment, and sports. In spite of this lively pace, however, we garner the strength and courage to advance toward the attainment of our earthly goals.

We recall from time to time that we are unmindful of countless experiences such as rushing to class before the last bell clangs, cramming for exams the night before an important test, worrying about our grades toward the end of each six weeks period, shouting and cheering our athletic teams after a "Cardinal" victory, applauding the chosen king and queen at the annual Sweetheart Ball, cultivating the enduring friendships, perhaps, of a lifetime. These diversified and memorable experiences in school comprise our world. To us . . . THIS IS OUR WORLD.

Steve Carver and Linda Wilson showing Deeann Goodier and Vicki Hosier how to dissect in biology.

Biology, the study of plant and animal life, though a very important field of study, meets the science requirements for high school graduation.

Chemistry and physics, highly effective courses, are designed to fulfill the science requirements for those students who plan to pursue a scientific career.

Home Economics and Vocational Agriculture

The home economics course for Junior High includes self improvement, foods, clothing, health and safety, and baby sitting.

During the four year course in home economics in high school, the girls study nutrition, meal preparation, social and family relationships, marriage, home nursing, child development, housing, consumer education, upholstery, time management and vocations, clothing and textiles, and complete a home experience each semester.

Sophomore home nursing class practicing the care of bed patients

The agriculture class learning the names of leaves.

In vocational agriculture, taught by Mr. Hendrix, students study the technique and science of agricultural production; marketing; soil conservation; maintenance and operation of modern farm machinery; construction and maintenance of farm buildings.

Junior and senior home economics class learning the art of upholstery.

Commercial and Social Studies

The commercial courses, taught by Mr. McRae, offer students the basic skills in typing and shorthand, bookkeeping, and secretarial training.

Mr. McRae watching the secretarial training class at work

The typing class hard at work

In social studies, taught by Mr. Quirk and Mrs. Hunt, freshmen and sophomores have, as an elective, world history, whereas juniors and seniors have, as a requirement, United States history and government and economics respectively.

Susie Malicoat and Connie Hawkins trace some routes on a map to the U.S. history class.

The freshman girls demonstrate the fun they have in their physical education class.

Bill Duncan, Roger Bullick, Gary Freeman, and Bill Sonafrank watch as Kent Spence and Joe Riley battle to hit the ball over the net.

Physical Education And Drivers Training Teach Necessary Skills

Mr. Quirk shows four of his drivers' training students how a car runs.

Driver Education, an elective, has become an increasingly popular course in the last few years. It affords a limited number of students each semester an opportunity to learn the principles of driving an automobile.

Mr. Quirk, the instructor, risks his life each day while teaching approximately thirty students the essentials of automotive driving. For this purpose, he has at his disposal a spanking new 1963 Ford Galaxie.

Mrs. Howard teaches the girls physical education, and Mr. McRae and Mr. Quirk teach the boys. The freshman and sophomore boys and girls who take the course, learn new varieties of sports, physical fitness, calisthenics, and a study of human anatomy under the guidance of these teachers.

Mrs. Hunt's eighth grade English class is shown giving a play, which they wrote themselves, to Mrs. Goldsberry's English 12 class.

Mrs. Goldsberry's Latin I class proves to be of interest, as shown by June Cotterman and Claude Keene, as they point out some of the Roman cities on a map.

Culture Calls For Language And Art

The mastery of our own language, English, is a priceless possession. The increasing use of written communication is making us keenly conscious of the power and importance of exact and adequate expression. Through the efforts of Miss Bell and Mrs. Goldsberry, our students are mastering the skills of English.

A knowledge of Latin is very useful and practicable. Over three-fifths of the words in the English language are Latin or derived from Latin. Almost every technical term in the sciences comes from Latin or Greek. Most professional people, especially nurses, doctors, and lawyers have studied Latin.

Under the direction of Mrs. Howard, our students are learning the skills of art. Art is an elective and is offered to all four of the high school grades.

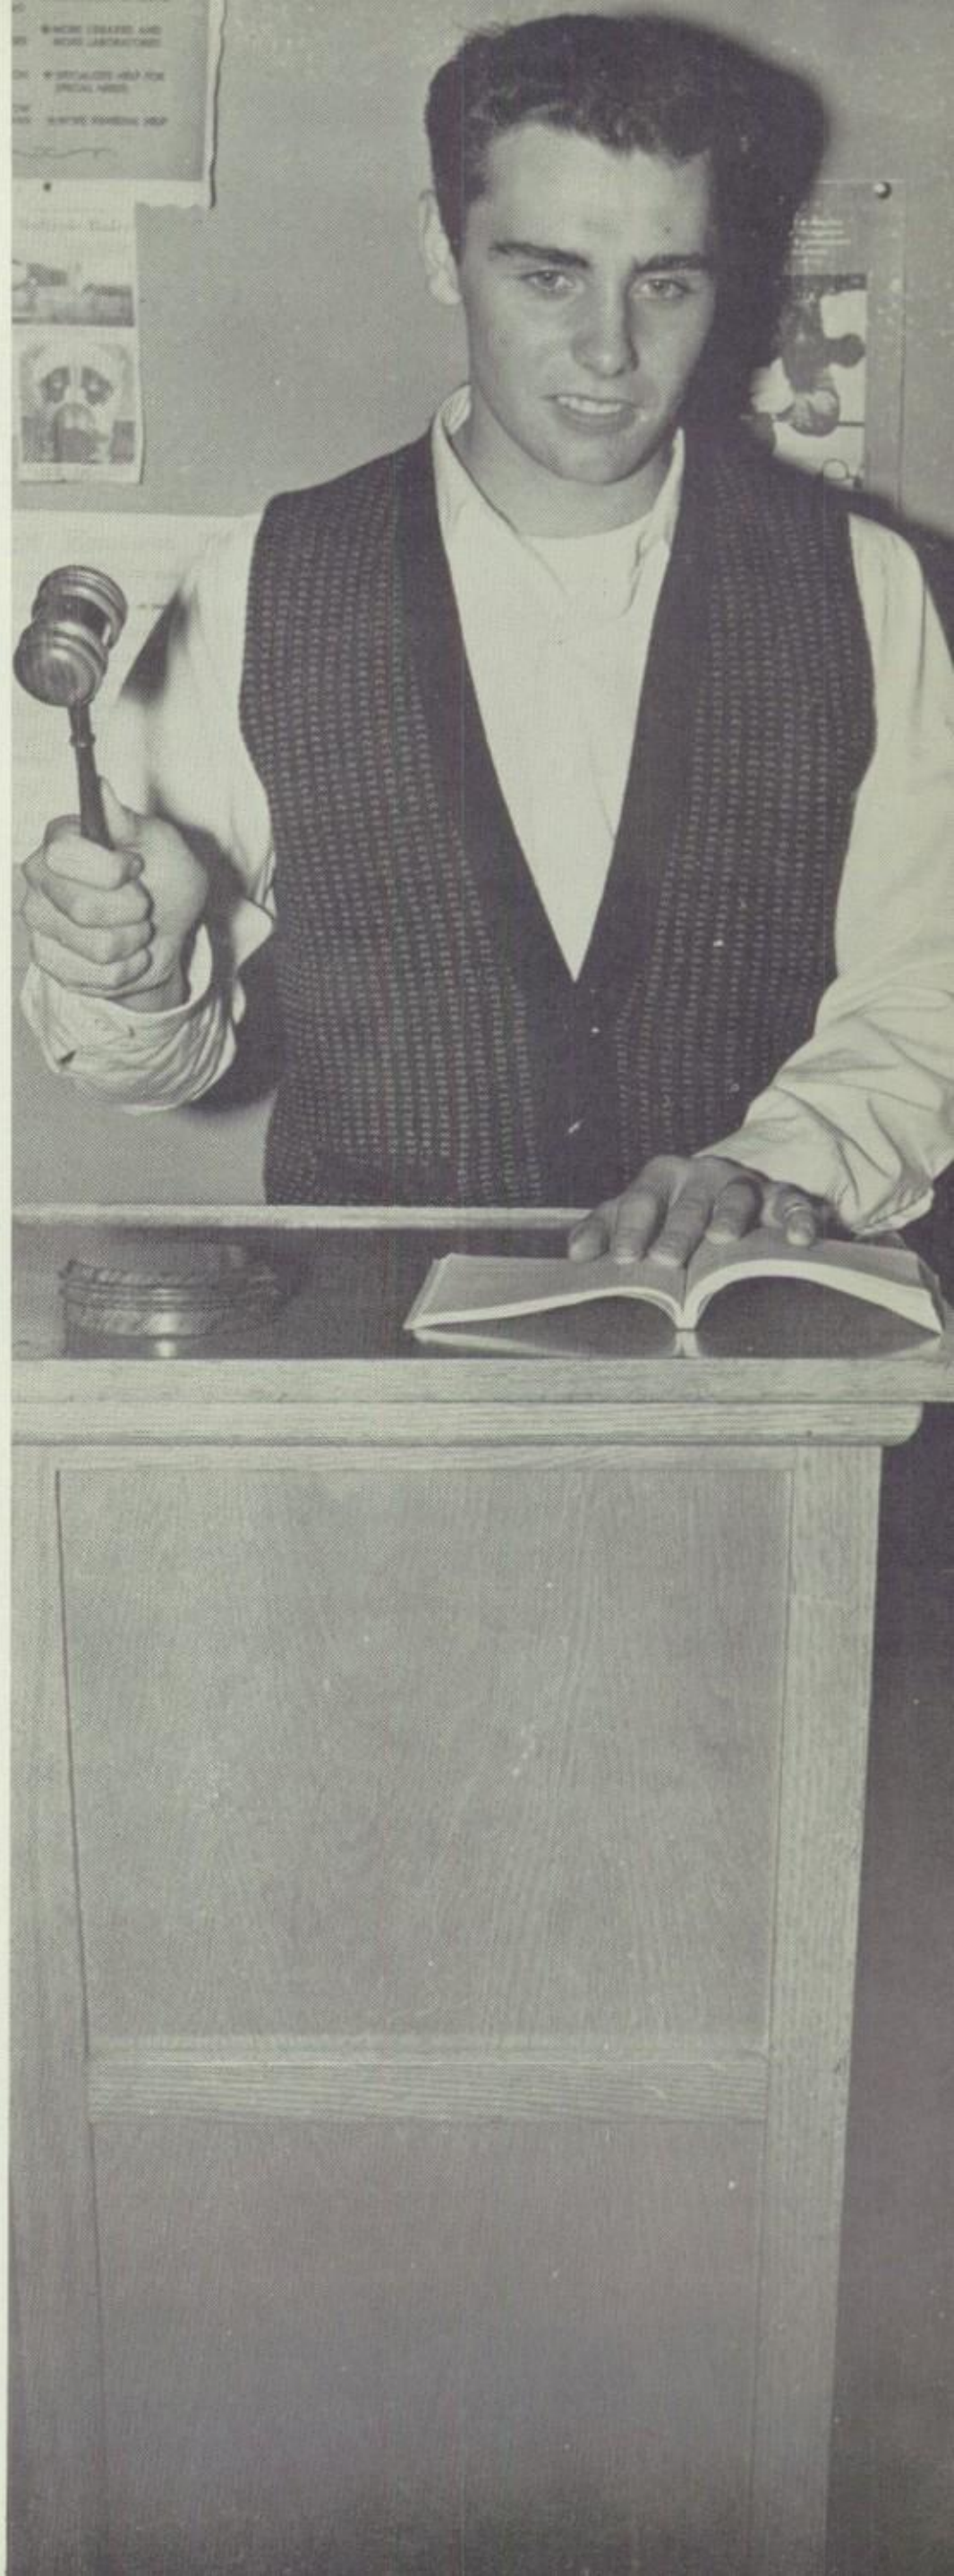

Craig Carden and Dale Hansen learn to make many different art creations in Mrs. Howard's art class.

Student Council

The Student Council, composed of representatives from each class and each organization, functions to represent the student body in administrative affairs.

The council sponsors Homecoming, an annual event, which becomes more outstanding each year.

The officers for this year are as follows: Mike Moss, as President; Dan Ronk, as Vice President; Elaine Kaufman, as Secretary; Becky Edwards, as Treasurer; Susie Malicoat, as Reporter.

Teaching Is Our Goal

The newly elected officers were initiated by Sharon Stafford, last year's president, in a formal ceremony.

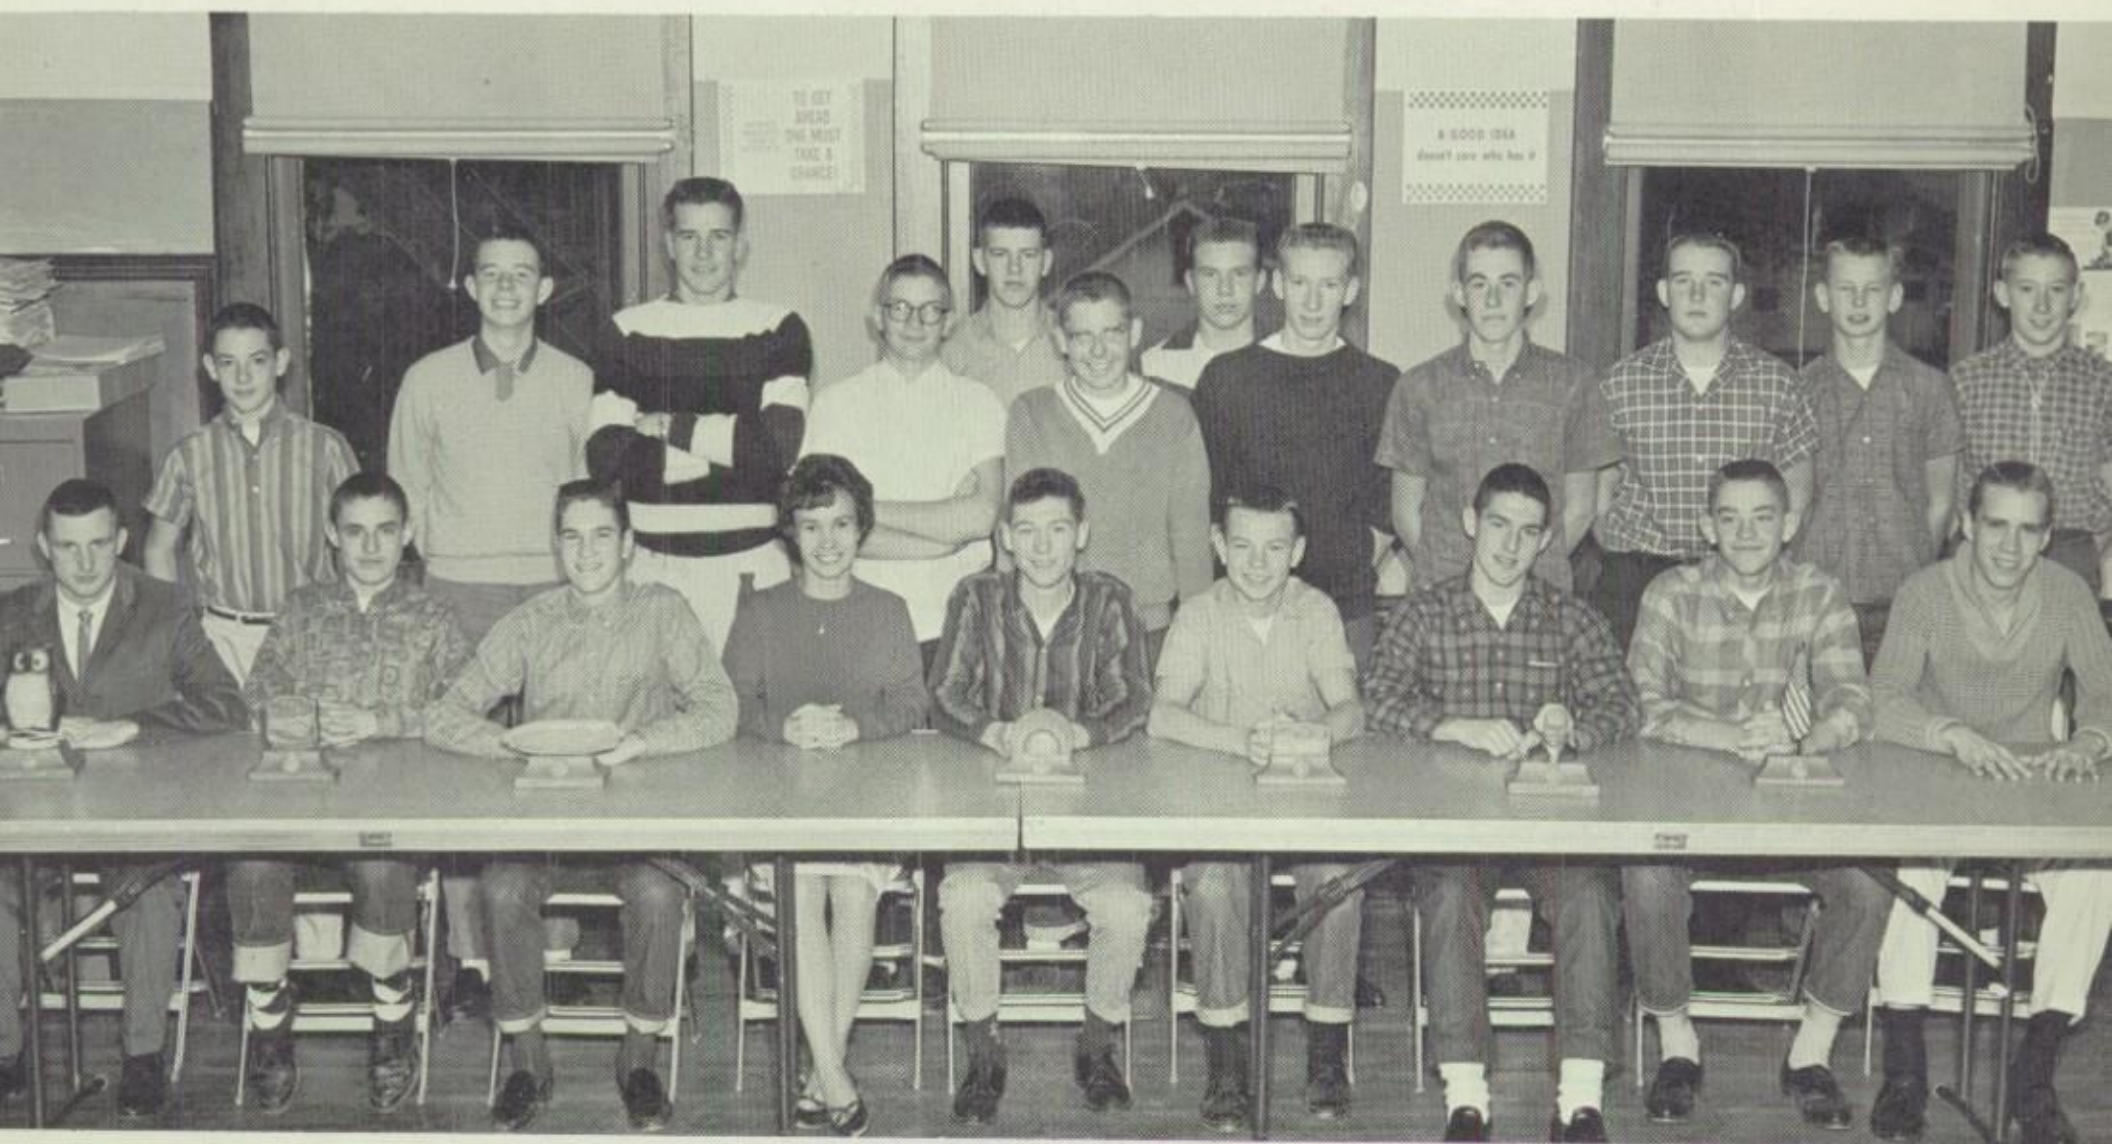

The Future Teachers of America has had another active and successful year, with Mrs. Beulah Pullen and Mrs. Beulah Goldsberry, as its sponsors for the sixth consecutive year.

The officers for the current year and the new members were installed at an impressive candle-lit ceremony during Convocation with the Reverend Raymond Skeleton, Cass County Probation Officer, as the speaker.

Three senior girls, Sharon Stafford, Wanda Taylor, and Meri-Gail Vickers, took part in the Exploratory Teaching program this year.

During National Education Week, the local chapter, showing its appreciation to the teachers, presented them with an apple, a cornucopia filled with candy, and a poem, climaxing the week with a carry-in dinner for the faculty and the members of the F.T.A.

Future Farmers Learn Better Farming Methods

There are four grades or degrees of active membership in the Future Farmers organization which include "Green Hand," "Chapter Farmer," "State Farmer," and "American Farmer."

The attainment of these degrees is contingent on definite accomplishments in this vocational agricultural program.

The local organization grants the first and second degrees on its members, the state organization bestows the third degree on the local members, and the national organization confers the fourth degree on the local members. Furthermore, specific levels of attainment in farming, earnings, investments, leadership, and scholarship are set up for each degree.

Sunshine Society Spreads Light to Others

The SUNSHINE SOCIETY, with Mrs. Pullen as the sponsor, opened the fall activities with an impressive candlelit initiation service for twenty-five freshmen and installation of seven new officers at the Methodist Church.

Selling candy was one of the Society's main projects. Other activities included a Thanksgiving breakfast; a chili supper in December with all high school boys as guests; a Christmas program presented to the patients of the State Mental Hospital in Logansport; "Daddy Date Night" in January; Mother-Daughter Banquet in April. The outstanding event of the year for the Society was the Sweetheart Ball on February 9.

Mrs. Pullen with the Sunshine Ideal Mother, Mary Jackson.

Math Club

The math club, with Mr. Rice and Mr. Snoke as sponsors, has certain requirements for those seeking membership. First of all, students with an "A" during the first six weeks of school automatically become members. Next, all seniors taking courses in mathematics automatically become members. Then, on the basis of scholarship, the two students who are chosen as contestants to represent their mathematics class in the district contest in mathematics, become members of this club. Last of all, others seeking membership become eligible by maintaining a "B" average and submitting a theme which is judged favorably.

Annual Staff Works To Create Galvestonian

Joe, Sharon, and Diane try to find new layout ideas for this year's Galvestonian.

Sharon Stafford, the Editor, attended the Journalism Institute at Indiana University last summer to attain knowledge and new ideas for the yearbook.

New to the Galveston High School this year, Miss Bell, the Faculty Sponsor, has worked tirelessly toward making the 1963 yearbook a success.

Along with Sharon and Miss Bell, Diane Hardin, Assistant Editor; Mike Moss, Business Manager; Frances Gish and Wanda Taylor, Copy Writers; Eddie Robertson, Photographer; and Joe Spence, Junior Editor; worked hard to meet the deadlines each time.

The Editor, members of her staff, and the Faculty Sponsor joined in the attempt to capture in words and pictures, the students, the events, and the spirit of a high school year in "This Is Our World."

SEATED: Becky Edwards, Diane Hardin, Susan Spence, Tammy Mast, Susie Salmons, Bev Brown, Frances Gish.
STANDING: Elaine Kaufman, Sharon Stafford, Davy

Cardinal Corner Staff Works To Meet Monthly Publication

In the flurry to meet deadlines, the paper staff, under the guidance of Mr. McRae, worked diligently throughout the year in preparation for the school newspaper, CARDINAL CORNER, for monthly publication.

Nancy Ravenscraft, Editor-in-Chief, kept the staff busy throughout the year as they went about, gathering news from various places, in order to make the school paper a success.

Other members of the staff are as follows: Elaine Kaufman, Co-Editor; Larry Hardin, Junior Editor; David Crockett, Business Manager; Reporters, Diane Hardin, Tammy Mast, Susan Spence, Sharon Stafford, and Frances Gish; Class News, Diana Lynch; Grade News, Becky Edwards; Club News, Susie Malicoat; Sports, Mike Moss; and Publicity, Susie Salmons and Beverly Brown.

Elaine Kaufman and Larry Hardin learn some new ideas for the paper from the Editor, Nancy Ravenscraft.

Galveston High School Chorus

Part of the chorus practicing for the County Music Festival.

The Galveston High School Chorus, with Miss Bell as director and accompanist, provides an opportunity for students to apply their musical knowledge in the production of expressive choral singing for public entertainment. The group performed at the Thanksgiving Convocation; it sang many of the world famous Christmas carols at the Christmas program sponsored by the P.T.A. During the holidays the chorus sang at the Longcliff State Hospital.

One of the highlights of the year was the appearance of the choral group at the Cass County Music Festival.

The choral group gives its last public performance of the school year at Commencement.

Marcus and Steve prove that the student managers have to work, too.

Around the School

"Ham" likes to eat.

A common scene between classes

Wonder if they got caught!

G.H.S. students enjoy dancing as a pastime.
